The Art of Reading Legalese

Another one of California Senator Bill Richardson's weekly newsletters held our attention this week.

Richardson is out of Arcadia and we don't know whether or not he is as good a senator as he is a writer but his newsletters are always interesting, often amusing and each of them carries a heavy bite on bureaucrats and on some of his peers who perpetuate them.

In this week's newsletter he takes to task those lawmakers who double-talk the public. Richardson insists that the average citizen has a difficult time figuring out what his legislator means when he speaks to them in "Solon-legalese".

He explains that Solon is derived from a Greek legislator of great ability. He says Solon was one of the first to understand the use of Aesopian terminology. Aesop was a Greek storyteller of some reputation and a near contemporary of Solon.

The nature of Aesop's fables was to say one thing and imply another — "Aesopian language." "Aesopian terminology" has been lovingly perpetuated by legislators since Aesop's time, he notes.

Now look at the legalese. That's where a person takes perfectly understandable English and contorts it in such a manner that no one except another lawyer attempts to understand it.

A legislator, claims Richardson, reaches the ultimate in legal perfection when his legislation is challenged and it weaves its way to the Supreme Court where it is then ruled upon with a 5-4 vote.

Richardson combines the two words to get "Solon-legalese". He claims that's the language now being used in describing the property tax issue. He offers a glossary by which many of the terms now bandied about by legislators on tax reform legislation may be better understood.

Richardson's glossary — and we urge you to pin it to the wall for easy future reference:

Tax Reform — A slight-of-hand technique used to give the appearance of cutting taxes — "reform" and "cut" have nothing in common. The technique is also known as the tax shift trick, relieving a tax with one hand while adding two with the other. The technique is found to be very useful during election years when Jarvis-Gann amendments are pending.

Property Tax Relief — Measures that rob Peter to pay Paul.

Property Tax Reform — Measures that rob Paul to pay Peter. (see also, Tax Relief.)

Tax Rate Reduction — Tax paid inversely proportionate to revised value assessment, or, in other words, the tax rate is lowered, making the people happy. Then, the assessment is tripled, making the government happy. Everyone is happy, just at different times. The people get the first laugh, and the government gets the last laugh. It is the same theory used in energy conservation and utility rates. The public utility calls for conservation. Being a responsible citizen, you conserve. Then, to make up for revenue lost through conservation, the utility calls for increased rates. (Also known as Catch-22.)

Preference Tax — Contrary to popular desire, "preference tax" does not mean that you pay the tax whenever you prefer to. The preference is under the complete control of the Legislature, which prefers to tax when they prefer.

Capital Gains Tax — In keeping with the philosophy of "the buck stops here," if you make a buck, the government take it. In simple terms — for every tax, the Capitol gains ... and gains ... and gains.

Revenue Sharing — A federal theory where increasing the federal debt can be shared by our local city fathers. Everyone then shares the joy of inflating the currency while the buying power of the taxpayer shrinks. Inflation balloons the cost of property and the local fathers benefit again by increases in property tax assessments. The entire principle is based on the old adage — it is better for you to give, and the government to receive.

Split Rate Property Tax Revenue — The split rate property tax revenue is figured by gathering together all the money collected from property taxes, and then splitting them up between all the new government programs that have nothing to do with property-related services. This comes to 70 percent of total property tax dollars.

Of course, the fun in these humorous definitions disappears when you look at the idea of the whole Solon-legalese system. If government can keep the people confused and guessing, making it harder for them to understand, it increases its ability to keep them under control.

Between now and the June election, Solon-legalese rhetoric will increase to an unbearable volume. The intent? To make the property tax issue appear so complex and potentially disastrous than the people will be afraid to make a move. With the voters in doubt, legislators can breathe a sigh of relief. They will have defeated Jarvis-Gann, can continue to operate under their definition of tax reform, and will pat themselves on the back for a job well legaled.

Old Time Days Parade April 8

Sydney Koala is Parade Marshal

Sydney Koala has been named Parade Marshal of the 1978 edition of Lemon Grove's Old Time Days Parade, it was announced by Brenda Coberly, an Old Time Days Assn. official.

Parade chairman is Lu Ann Holaday. The parade is scheduled for Saturday, April 8.

The carnival, to be at St. John of the Cross Church grounds at Broadway and Imperial.

Sydney replaces "Shotgun" Tom Kelly, a tv personality who had to relinquish his marshalship due to professional commitments.

The parade starts at the west end of Broadway at 11 a.m. Following Sydney will be Lemon Grove's Mayor Jim Dorman who is honorary parade marshal.

Sydney, a member of the San Diego Zoo, is 7 ft. tall and all fur on the outside like the real ones.

There are 7 real koalas at the zoo. They're the only ones in the United States.

The koala is native to Australia. They're marsupials, about 2 feet long with large hairy ears. Marshal Sydney is so big and heavy that he shuffles along with 6-inch steps. He'll ride a truck along the parade route.

Meanwhile, both Holaday and Coberly are seeking citizens who will work during the parade. Holaday can be reached at 461-4757, Coberly at 469-8827.

A BLACKENED STORE FRONT of the Cornet variety store, 7875 Broadway, was the result of a fire on Thursday which caused an estimated $300,000 damage.

$300,000 Damage

Lemon Grove's Birthday Candle... The Cornet Variety Store Inferno

A passer-by, surveying the remnants of the destroyed Cornet variety store at 7875 Broadway, called it Lemon Grove's biggest birthday candle.

In the wake of the first anniversary of the election for Lemon Grove cityhood, the assessment may have been accurate.

The fire which caused an estimated $300,000 damage to the 23 year old variety store and its contents has been compared only to the St. Philip's Church fire of 1972, a fire which caused some $200,000 damage, and the Mayfair Supermarket fire of 1975, in which $280,000 went up in smoke.

The Cornet fire also was the first major fire for the new city fire department, a unit transferred from a fire protection district last year.

Some 40 firemen from departments in Lemon Grove, Spring Valley, La Mesa, and El Cajon responded to the 1:47 a.m. alarm on Thursday in a futile attempt to save the already engulfed Cornet store.

It was Friday before Lemon Grove Fire Marshal John Ott released the fire's probable cause: a short circuit in a fluorescent night light.

"The internal charring of the light," Ott explained, "leads me to believe the fire occurred in the light fixture."

Most of the damage occurred in the rear of the building, near the west side rear night light.

"The store had two such night lights, one in the front of the building and the other near the rear," Chief Ott reiterated.

It is believed, as the power was restored from Wednesday's afternoon blackout, overheating caused the fixture to short circuit.

Earlier, arson investigators from the San Diego Sheriff's Department were called in to check for the possibility the fire had been deliberately set — as in the two recent fires at the Old Globe Theatre and the Electric Building in Balboa Park.

By late last week, that investigation failed to turn up any clues which could point towards arson.

Lemon Grove Fire Chief Bob Adams praised the efforts of the departments involved in the fire. Two adjacent stores, Linda's Dress Shop and the Alamo Vacuum and Sewing Shop, sustained no and little damage respectively.

Rain Total Sets Record

This, the 1977-78 rain season, has become the wettest since the L.G. Fire Department started keeping records in 1963-64.

So far this season the total is 23.52 inches. In 1965-66, the next highest rainfall season, it was 17.25.

The lowest rainfall season was that of 1971-72 when the total reached a measly 6 inches.

The seasonal average for 15 years of record keeping is 12.84 inches.

Emergency Aid Set For Business Firms

Business firms that want to participate in a cost free security program operated by the Sheriff's Lemon Grove office should give their home telephone number to Sheriff's Sgt. J. L. Clopton at the Lemon Grove office.

This may be done by phone. The phone file will be kept confidential but deputies will use it to notify those participating in case of emergency.

Sgt. Clopton said fire, doors left open, broken water mains and tripped burglar alarms will be the basis for using the file most of the time.

Sgt. Clopton can be reached at 236-2902 Monday through Friday 2-5 p.m. Clopton will return calls made earlier.

LG Chamber Officers Election Held Mar. 23

The Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce will meet on March 23 in Skandia Restaurant for their annual election of officers.

Ballots were tabulated yesterday to determine who will fill six vacant seats on the Chamber's Board of Directors. The results of those tallies have yet to be made public by the Chamber.

From among the 18 directors, including the six newly elected to the board, will come the Chamber officers for the upcoming year.

Those officers will be seated in a special installation dinner on April 1.

Burglar's Loot $1000

Coins, watches and jewelry valued at $1,000 were taken from the home of Donald Carl Weiss who lives at 8125 Roy st. in Lemon Grove.

The loss, he said, occurred while he was at work.

L.G. City to Get $649,000 From Auto Gas and Licenses

SACRAMENTO — State Controller Kenneth Cory has notified Lemon Grove that its 1977-78 shares of highway users taxes and vehicle license fees will exceed earlier estimates and that they can expect still higher returns during 1978-79.

"Licensed vehicles are growing in number and value while gasoline and diesel fuel use is rising," Cory said in announcing the annual estimates of the two tax apportionments sent to local government for use in their budget preparations.

"These increases will bring the 1977-78 highway users apportionment up to $364.3 million as compared to the estimate of $361.1 million, and the license fee apportionment up to $438.5 million against the $385.5 million estimated.

"For the 1978-79 fiscal year it is estimated that the cities and counties will share $378.3 million in highway users taxes and $465.2 million in license fees."

According to the 1978-79 estimates, Lemon Grove will receive $376,502 from the highway users taxes, and $273,304 from license fees for a total of $649,806.

Highway users taxes are those derived from the sales of gasoline and diesel fuels.

CELEBRATING THE FIRST ANNIVERSARY of Lemon Grove Cityhood during unintentional candlelight ceremonies in City Hall on Wednesday of last week was Mayor James Dorman, City Clerk Karen Thomson, and City Manager Jack Sheller. The ceremonies were undaunted by Wednesday's power black-out.

There's An Answer

by Mr. and Mrs. Norman Vincent Peale

Wants to be free

Q. I and my husband are 32 years old and we are the parents of two girls, 14 and 8. My husband has asked me for a divorce.

He says he still loves me and doesn't want to hurt me, but that he just wants to be free to go out and do what he wants.

As far as I know he is not having an affair with anyone. I love him very deeply and have got to the point where I can't eat. Just the smell of food makes me sick, and I can't do anything but worry, and I can't sleep.

Until a few weeks ago I thought we had a good and happy married life. I don't have a job and never had one.

He won't let me work, says my place is with the kids. Please help me if you can. I am at my breaking point.

A. You should make a very intensive study of yourself as a wife and as a woman. Perhaps he wants to get away from you because he feels you do not meet his needs, physically, mentally or spiritually.

On the other hand, there are some men, and women, too, who are just not happy in marriage, any way you take it. And on the guess that such may be the case, persuade your husband to go with you to a counselor who can reach the deeper level of his feeling.

Stop being so emotional and start thinking clearly, because your whole future depends upon your ability to think through this situation.

And if you have to get a job, that will require emotional control also.

We have a booklet, "You Can Overcome Any Problem," that has helped others with questions such as yours and a copy of it is on its way to you. Anyone wishing a free copy of this booklet may obtain one by writing us in care of Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

World's oldest problem

Q. My problem, the world's oldest, is my mother-in-law! After her husband's death she moved directly across the street from us so we could look after her. But then everything changed.

She knows when we eat, sleep, leave the house and come back home. She calls and tells me when to pick up the mail, put out the garbage and to find out who is visiting me. When I buy clothes she goes and buys exactly the same for herself. I'm on nerve medicine, mostly on her account.

She is in really good health, and sometimes I wonder if she won't last longer than me. I'm honest; I really am tired of putting up with her. But what can I do? My husband and I never argue over anything—except her!

A. Your trouble is that you are allowing another person to determine your unhappiness. Never let anybody take charge of your life in any way.

The simple solution is to disregard this woman, what she says or does. And live your own life with no concern for how she dresses or what she says or how she acts.

Then try another little plan, which often works wonders.

Send out loving thoughts toward her. Treat her respectfully and kindly and go about saying very nice things about her. Love often wins amazingly. And you will be astonished at how different you feel.

Is suicide a sin?

Q. How much of a sin is it to take one's own life before falling into such a condition as life in a modern health-care facility? My mother is in a nursing home because I can't lift her.

They are always short of help and always have an excuse for not keeping her cleaned up.

My uncle who is also in a home is paralyzed and has deep bed ulcers from which he will never recover. My heart breaks each time I visit them.

There seems to be a great carelessness toward the old and helpless, and it makes me determined that one of these homes will not get me or my husband to end our last days that way.

When we can no longer care for ourselves, and one of us becomes a burden to the other, we wonder if suicide is justified.

A. We agree with you in your determination never to live in such a facility as you describe.

But in our opinion there is no circumstance in which one is justified in taking his or her own life. "The Lord gives and the Lord takes away" is an established and legitimate principle for a godly person to adopt.

It is better to take a positive attitude that a satisfactory life situation can be attained, difficult though it may be.

I there is something you would like to ask Dr. and Mrs. Peale to discuss in this column, write to them in care of Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

Weekend Programs Planned For LM Adventist Church

Two special programs are planned at the La Mesa Seventh-day Adventist Church on Saturday.

Beginning at 9:30 a.m. the annual Sabbath School Community Guest Day will be held.

The day features special music by Dr. Joe Paoli of Ocean-side and the mission emphasis by Susan Young.

La Mesa Adventists will take part during the 11 a.m. worship service in one of the rites established by Christ just before His death, reports Pastor John DuNesme.

"Before Jesus and His disciples ate the Last Supper the day before His crucifixion," DuNesme says, "Jesus washed their feet, in the manner of a servant of that era. He told them that as He had done to them, so they should do to one another."

"This beautifully symbolic act, which we call the ordinance of humility, prepares us to humble ourselves before we take the bread and the cup of the Lord's communion. All members of the church, insofar as they are physically able, observe the rite. Men and women occupy different rooms of the church."

DuNesme notes that Pope Paul VI will practice footwashing on Maundy Thursday (March 23) at an annual observance in the Vatican.

Adventists practice footwashing and take communion quarterly, according to the Pastor. He said there is no theological significance to the timing of the observance.

Adventists are open communionists and all guests are welcome to participate in the service. The church is located at 4207 Spring Street.

'Streetcar' on Right Track At Coronado Playhouse

by Susanne Williams

With Tennessee Williams' "A Streetcar Named Desire," the Coronado Playhouse under director William R. Bruce, ventured from its well-known repertoire of comedies into the area of tragedy: A risky undertaking but, as Thursday's opening night showed, a quite successful one.

The play is demanding, not only for the actors but also for the audience which found itself intimately drawn into this drama about human frailties.

"A Streetcar Named Desire" is a play about the tragic interdependence of vulnerability and cruelty, typified through Blanche du Bois (Nina Midlam) and her brother-in-law Stanley Kowalski (Hud Freeze), who both threaten and torment each other to a breaking point.

The clash between them is not only the result of personality extremes; it also reflects the conflict between their two worlds, that of a Southern Belle versus a first generation American "Polack."

Their point of contact is Stella (Trina Ciuffo), Blanche's sister and Stanley's wife, at whose home Blanche seeks refuge from her loneliness and haunting past. But instead of tranquility, Blanche finds a life-style that circles around bowling, poker games and Stan's and Stella's problematic but honest love.

Blanche does not understand the life with this "grunting animal" that Stella had chosen—nor does Stanley understand airs and mannerisms of overwrought Blanche.

Their involuntary coexistence comes to a brutal end when Stanley destroys the unlikely, but blossoming relationship between Blanche and Mitch (Berry Messer), his portent drinking buddy.

"A Streetcar Named Desire" lives of the heroes' inability to understand each other—but more so, it lives of the actors' ability to portray it in a credible manner. And credibility means to be frail without being theatrical; to be crude without being excessively so; to be simple without being silly.

Nina Midlam escaped all inherent pitfalls with a remarkable and heart-gripping performance: her haunted expressions, her pitiful gestures and her pathetic sermons created a haunted, pitiful and pathetic Blanche.

Hud Freeze fared almost equally well, although his initial appearances suffered slightly from too much too soon. His strongly displayed crudeness left little room for logical development.

Stella was nicely performed by Trina Ciuffo. Yet, the natural warmth she was supposed to feel for Stanley and Blanche, alike, was a bit stilted and, well, staged.

Barry Messer, however, created an utterly believable Mitch. His performance contained a maximum of subtlety which greatly benefitted his excellent portrayal of Mitch's own tragedy.

Supporting actors and actresses Dawn Acrey, Phil Klein, Peter Gantille, Rita Walker, Stephen Harding, Loreta Santos and Virginia Whitby provided an appealing, solid background for the play's central theme.

Trina Bruce's costume designs deserve full credit for capturing the spirit of time and characters. The stage design by William R. Bruce maximized the playhouse's limited capacity and skillfully solved possible viewing problems.

"A Streetcar Named Desire" will be presented Fridays and Saturdays, 8:30 p.m.

A DISTINGUISHED GROUP of area women were nominated for the annual Soroptimist International "Women Helping Women" Award. Nominees included (l-r) Lillian Duncan, Eva Emerick, Barbara Meyers, Dr. Lois Nossaman, Donna Adams, and Karen Thomson. Cited at yesterday's Soroptimist breakfast was Lillian Duncan for her roles in leading PTA's, women's clubs, and senior citizen projects.

Area Obituaries

Roy F. Silvis

Memorial services were held at 2 p.m. on Tuesday in Bonham Brothers Mortuary for Roy F. Silvis, 83, one of the early settlers of Lemon Grove.

Mr. Silvis, who lived the past five years at 8246 Alton drive, died March 10 in a veterans hospital in Paris, California.

He moved from Richfield, Kansas, to Lemon Grove in 1910. He graduated from Lemon Grove Elementary School and "Russ" High School, a school later known as San Diego High.

He was a veteran of World War I, serving in the United States Army's "Rainbow Division".

Memberships included World War I Veterans Barracks no. 240, Lemon Grove Congregational Church of Christ, and the first Boy Scout troop in the area, Lemon Grove Troop no. 1.

Mr. Silvis, after retiring in 1960 from employment with the City of San Diego, became active in beekeeping and was called upon as an expert to remove bees. The Navy called him in, on occasion, to remove swarms of bees from the masts of ships.

Survivors include one sister: Viola S. Lindsay of Lemon Grove; one brother: Lee Silvis of Sun City; three step children: Mrs. Shadburn, Mrs. Florence Bohac of Ramona, and Morris McKinstry of San Diego; and two daughters: Francis Harris of Trussville, Alabama, and Ann May Timms of Los Angeles.

Pap Tests to be Given To Area Women Tuesday

Cervical cancer, one of the most common forms of cancer among American women, will be the target of a Pap screening clinic to be held in East San Diego Tuesday.

The clinic will be held at the ESD Health Center, 5202 University ave., San Diego, 1-4 p.m.

It is being offered to low-income women, particularly those over 40 years of age who have not had a Pap test in the last year.

According to Dr. John R. Philp, county director of public health, cervical cancer is usually curable when detected at an early stage.

"The Pap test, which is the examination to detect the disease, is both simple and painless. Cells collected from the vagina are examined under a microscope.

"This test is important for women who have had a partial or complete hysterectomy," Dr. Philp stressed. "Often these women do not realize they still may need the periodic Pap test."

In addition to the Pap test and pelvic examination, women attending the clinic will be given a breast examination and will be shown the technique of breast self-examination. A woman physician and nurses from the Health Department will give the medical examination.

The American Cancer Society staff and volunteers will conduct the breast self-examination instruction. Bilingual personnel will be on hand to aid Spanish speaking patients.

For most women the clinic will provide a means of reassuring them about cancer. Women with an abnormal test will be contacted by a public health nurse and referred for further testing or medical follow-up.

The clinic is part of a cooperative of the County Health Dept. and the S.D. County Unit of erative countywide campaign the American Cancer Society.

School Food Waste Eyed

Under a new proposal aimed at reducing food waste junior high and middle school students would no longer have to accept all items of their school lunch if they do not intend to eat them.

At present, students must take all 5 items offered daily as part of their school lunch, namely milk, bread, meat and two vegetables or fruit.

Under the proposal, announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, students would still be required to pay the full amount for their lunch, regardless of how many items they take. The proposed change would not affect the amount of federal reimbursement for that lunch.

Written comments on the proposal may be sent no later than April 10 to the Acting Director, School Program Division, Food and Nutrition Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

S.D. Show Features Barbara Seigal Art

Spring Valley resident Barbara Seigal has a one-woman show in the Corridor Gallery at the San Diego Public Library, 820 E st., where 18 watercolors and oils will be on display March 31.

A graduate of both Queens College and the New York School of Interior Design, Barbara worked as a fashion illustrator for major department stores and buying offices in New York City before moving to San Diego. She is a member of the S.D. Watercolor Society and several local art associations.

Battered Woman Workshop is Tonight

The battered woman will be discussed at a city Community Relations Department Community Education Workshop tonight, at 7:30 p.m., Taft Junior High School, 9191 Gramercy dr. in Serra Mesa.

Representatives from the Conciliation Court and the City Attorney's office will provide information and respond to questions from the audience.

Free brochures describing the role of the court, police, proposed Domestic Violence Pilot Project Centers, and community agencies will be distributed.

Workshop phone is 239-9341.

Peter Rabbit To Visit Spring Valley Library

The classic Beatrix Potter tale of mischievous, loveable Peter Rabbit ad "Easter Surprise," an original play written by Mrs. Jocelyn Everham of the San Diego County Library staff, will be presented at the Spring Valley Library on March 23.

Mrs. Everham and Mrs. Izzetta Jones, staff members, will present "Peter Rabbit" and "Surprise" in special presentations for kids at 3:30 p.m. in the library, 1043 Elkton blvd., Spring Valley.

The plays will be presented by projecting shadows on a screen and are free.

Music Series Lists Upcoming Concerts

The Sacred Music Series of the La Jolla Presbyterian Church will present two concerts, the first on April 9 and the second on April 30.

The first concert will feature Odile Pierre, titular organist of the Church of the Madeleine in Paris.

Pierre will present an organ recital at the church, 7715 Draper ave., La Jolla, at 4 p.m.

There is no admission for the performance yet a free-will offering will be taken.

The second concert will feature "The Creation" as performed by the 80 voice Chancel Choir under the direction of La Jolla Presbyterian conductor L. Robert Slusser.

"Creation" has been scheduled for April 30 at 7:30 p.m. Again there is no admission charge yet a free-will offering.

Student Rights Booklet

The rights and responsibilities of students have been collected in a new pamphlet circulated through the Consumer Information Center in Colorado.

The free booklet, titled "Your Legal Rights and Responsibilities" is available through the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 652F, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

This Week's RECIPE

Baked Pear Pudding

Baked Pear Pudding, an impromptu dessert which can be prepared in minutes, combines diced canned Bartlett pears with packaged biscuit mix and nutmeats.

The liquid from the pears is mixed with the dry mixture as the pudding bakes. Lemon Juice and grated peel give a tangy accent to the dessert.

- Baked Pear Pudding
- 1 can (16 ozs.) Bartlett pears
 - 1 cup biscuit mix
 - 1/4 cup chopped nuts
 - 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
 - 1/2 cup brown sugar
 - 2 tablespoons butter
 - 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
 - 2 tablespoons lemon juice

Drain and chop pears, reserving one cup pear syrup. Toss together biscuit mix, nuts, cinnamon and pears. Place in shallow baking dish.

Public Theatre To Open in S.D.

The Marquis Public Theater will hold an Open House to celebrate the opening of its new theatre facility March 18 11 a.m.-5 p.m. Local musicians, mimes, dancers and actors will be performing throughout the day.

The new 112-seat theater built within the India St. Art Colony is located at Washington and India sts. in San Diego.

The Art Colony won the 1978 American Institute of Planners Award for being an outstanding project in the area of preservation-renewal of the manmade environment. The Colony was conceived and developed by Raoul Marquis who is an attorney and a city planner.

The Marquis Public Theater was funded in January 1978 by Regional Educational Training Consortium (RETC) under a federal CETA Special Projects grant. Under the terms of the grant, an administrative and production staff was funded and hired to create an "Experiment in Public Theater." Both the works of new playwrights and innovative forms of theater will be developed and produced in the Public Theater.

The first production of the Marquis Theater will be "The Shadow Box" by Michael Christopher. It will open March 31 at 8:30 p.m.

Channel Is. Subject Of Slide Presentation

"The Channel Islands—California's Last Wilderness" will be the title of a slide show at the monthly meeting of the Audubon Society.

The meeting will be held March 24 at 7:30 p.m. in the lecture hall of the Natural History Museum.

Bogey's Casablanca Relived In 12th Annual Arts Ball

A dangling cigarette, an unshaven face, and a nasal sigh "Here's lookin' at you, kid" will be the mood when the 12th Annual Beaux Arts Ball opens with "A Night in Casablanca," a movie made epic by the late Humphrey Bogart.

The "Night" will be held Saturday in the Riviera Room of the Kona Kai Club, Shelter Island.

Toasts of the night will begin at 6:30 p.m. followed by a dinner scheduled for 7:30 and dancing at 8:30.

Music will be provided by the Sherrod Sextet.

Also on hand will be belly dancing by Linda Holmes and a palm reader.

tion put on a ball to raise funds for their scholarship fund.

The fund goes to young artists pursuing a career in the fine arts.

Some of the artists the Association sponsors will make presentations during the evening.

Reservations for Saturday's ball may still be made through Chairmen Mrs. Thorwald A. Lambert at 442-3961 or Mrs. Olle J. Ohlsson at 447-2070.

Grossmont Named Paramedic Base

Grossmont and Tri-City hospitals have been designated paramedic base station hospitals under an agreement with the County of San Diego.

Under contract agreements with the County, the two hospitals are participating in a pilot program using mobile intensive care paramedics who deliver care to the sick and injured at the scene of an emergency.

Paramedics transport the to the hospital, providing care enroute, while in the hospital's emergency room department and until care and responsibility is assumed by the hospital's regular staff.

The Board of Supervisors unanimously approved base station hospital agreements between the County and the two hospitals as required by the Health and Safety Code.

The agreements are at no cost to the County as the hospitals provide the necessary manpower and facilities for this service.

Under review by each hospital's boards and administration, the agreements will continue indefinitely to eliminate annual renewal.

Program of Pantomime

A program of pantomime performed by Claude Kipnis will be presented in the East County Performing Arts Center, 210 E. Main st., El Cajon, tomorrow night.

The program begins at 8 p.m. and is sponsored by Grossmont College.

Theatre Academy Planned for USIU

A new Academy for Theatre Arts has been established by San Diego State University to provide professional training opportunities for students of acting, directing or technical theatre.

The academy, expected to enlarge scope and influence of SDSU's Department of Drama, will be headed by Paul Gregory, veteran stage, screen and television producer. Gregory is best known for his major films — "The Night of the Hunter," "The Naked and the Dead" — and television specials.

A subscription lecture and performance series will bring working professionals to the campus in fall. Long-range goals of the academy include campus workshops, showcases of new dramatic works and a summer theatre arts program in London.

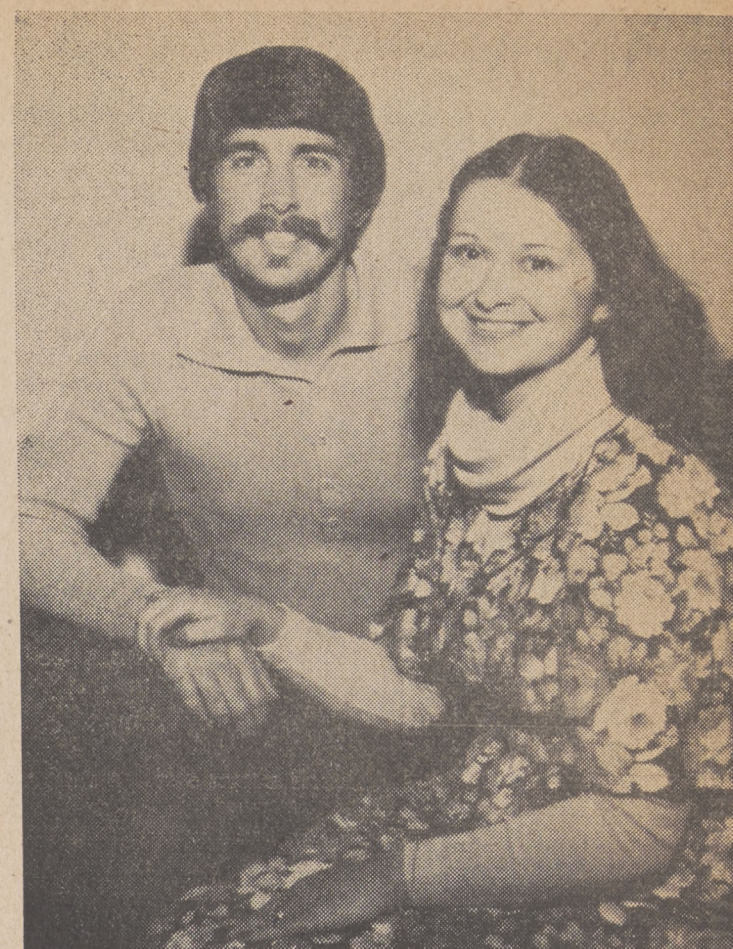

College Info Day Set For S'western College

More than 40 universities and colleges in California will take part in the University and College Information Day scheduled March 27 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the Student Union at Southwestern College.

Representatives will be on hand to talk about school admission requirements, how to go about transferring to a 4-year institution, tuition and education expenses, financial aid, housing, and highlights of programs at various campuses.

A special invitation is extended to high school seniors who may not be affected by their class schedules and members of the community who are interested in four-year public and private institutions as well as Southwestern College.

The Counseling Department at Southwestern is hosting the Information Day. Contact their office for more information.

LOCAL BUSINESS DIRECTORY

These Businesses Are Here To Serve You
TRY LOCAL FIRMS FIRST!

This is the week when the community abounds with leprechauns --- those mischievous elves of Irish folklore. They're the little people who reveal the hiding place of treasure, if caught.

It is said that leprechauns are easily caught and extremely cooperative. So smart shoppers will be out this week seeking their own favorite leprechaun and prod him into leading them to goods and services that so many people need just before Easter.

This year, with Easter just a little more than a week away, chances are the leprechaun you catch will have a copy of this Shoppers' Guide in his pocket.

Even if you don't catch your own, you can use this guide to local firms that are anxious to serve you.

May the Saints preserve you in your search.

Lemon Grove Man a Favorite In SCORE's Baja 250 Saturday

MEXICALI, B.C.—The one section of Baja California not ravaged by recent storms will be the site of SCORE International's second off-road race of the season, the Mexicali 250, Saturday.

More than 250 motorcycles, cars, trucks, four-wheel-drives and dune buggies will be flagged off beginning at dawn for what may be SCORE's fastest-ever desert race.

Winning average speeds in excess of 60 mph are predicted for the 310-mile course that skirts the forbidden wasteland known—not accurately in recent weeks—as Laguna Salada (Dry Lake).

Racers will navigate clockwise over an elliptical route that extends 120 miles due south of here to the fishing resort of San Felipe, then snake their way northward through foothills and along mountain access roads on the eastern slope of the Sierra de Juarez mountains.

The entry list is not wanting for drivers who like to go fast. Included among the favorites are former Baja 1000 winners Johnny Johnson of Lemon Grove; Bobby Ferro of Sherman Oaks; Rod Hall of Reno and Walker Evans of Riverside. Motorcyclists are expected to chase another er former Baja 1000 winner, Larry Roeseler of Bloomington.

Then there is the legendary Mickey Thompson of Long Beach, Calif., who in 1972 astounded Mexicali fans by driving the first 100 miles of the only Baja 1000 ever held here in less than one hour.

The course for this race was carefully laid out to bypass flood-damaged areas of the San Pedro Martir mountains where another recent SCORE race provided some nearly impassable high water barriers to the competitors.

Part of the southbound leg will make use of Mexico's Federal Highway 5, and nearly all of it is across flatland with only occasional desert washes to slow the drivers from speeds in excess of 100 mph in the faster vehicles.

The road back is another type of challenge. Climbing out of San Felipe through Diable Dry Lake, drivers and riders will hit the 2,000-foot mark near Cohabuzo Junction for a rocky, bumpy trip northward toward the finish line a few blocks from Calexico's downtown business district here.

The race also starts in the center of Calexico. The first of 50 motorcyclists will take the green flag at about 6:45 a.m. race day across the street from El Centro de Gobierno (the State Building) in the civic center and will roar more than a mile through barricaded city streets until they reach open country. Motorcycles will be started 10 seconds apart.

More than 200 four-wheel vehicle drivers will begin their race against the clock at 8 a.m., starting at 30 second intervals.

All racing vehicles will be impounded beginning at 8:30 a.m. Friday across the street from race headquarters, Hotel Lucerna, located at Blvd. Benito Juarez 2151. Mandatory pre-race instruction meetings will be held Friday at 6 p.m. for motorcycle riders and 8:30 p.m. for drivers at a soft drink bottling plant located at Blvd. Benito Juarez 1819.

For many, if not all, of the race finishers, observers predict an all-daylight race, a condition rarely known in off-road events.

Storm Closes SB; Reopens March 22

Because of rain damages estimated at more than $10,000, promoter Don Basile has rescheduled the openings for the Coca-Cola High School Motocross and USRC midjet auto races at South Bay Park Speedway 117.

Double points will be offered to high school riders when they finally begin the season Wednesday, March 22. Motocross will start at 7:30 p.m. after practice runs which begin at 6.

The midjet opener has been reset for Saturday night, April 15, at which time these tiny cars will share the program on the quarter-mile oval with the street stocks of the South Bay Racing Assn.

"There has been no change in plans for the super and street stocks who will have an open house April 2, and open their season April 8," said Basile, after surveying the damage to his track.

He said the heavy rain caused erosion problems and that his crew would need more time to reshape and prepare the motocross course and quarter-mile oval. The press box was destroyed by heavy winds and has been reconstructed.

Basile said he has received tremendous rider response for the motocross season and they are eager to start.

Santana High will return to defend its title but El Cajon and Helix Highs are expected to be tough. Some 170 riders are expected.

Los Al Harness Meet Has New Names, Faces

LOS ALAMITOS — Shelly Goudreau, the 29-year-old Canadian native, has jumped out to an early advantage in his quest for a second straight driving title at Los Alamitos but two young drivers are making names for themselves in their first appearance at the Southern California Racing Assn. meet.

Harness racing continues at the state's only 5/8ths mile oval six nights weekly, Monday through Saturday, with post time at 7:45. Two $2 Exactas are featured nightly on the first and last races with $5 Exactas set for the fourth, sixth and eighth races.

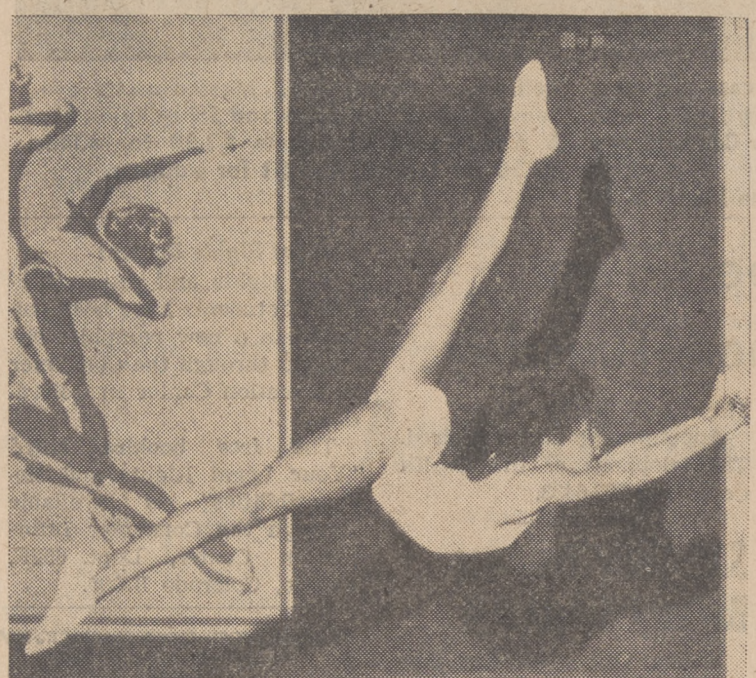

While Goudreau leads the driver standings through the first 13 nights of action, James Marohn and woman driver Gabriele Bernat are making people take notice of their accomplishments on the track. Goudreau posted 16 victories in his first 66 races to head the standings with veterans Steve Deconer, Rick Kuebler and Steve Spriggs in close pursuit.

GYMNASTS — Tatia Said, 12, right, a pupil at Casa de Oro's 6th grade, will compete in U.S.G.F. championships Monday and Tuesday.

She was 1976-77 2nd place all-around champ and favors beam and bars.

Below, Erin Johnson, 14, a student at Pershing Jr. High, S.D. was 1st in floor and vault — her favorite exercises — in S. Cal. State Championships last year.

Gymnastic Competition at State Mon.-Tues.

The United States Gymnastic Federation Class 1 District Championships for young women, ages 9-18, will be held on Monday and Tuesday at Peterson Gymnasium at S.D. State University.

Gymnasts will be competing for the opportunity to advance to regional competition on 4 internationally recognized levels, including floor exercise, uneven parallel bars, balance beam and vaulting.

Winners of the championship will continue in gymnastic events throughout the U.S., in consideration for future Olympic competition.

Tickets for the event, which is being sponsored by the Gymnastics Parents Club, can be purchased at the local San Diego high schools and at the Aztec Gym Club, located on Federal blvd. Proceeds will be used to assist the youths in their travel expenses.

Cajon Speedway Opens 18th Season April 1st

Cajon Speedway begins its 18th year of operation on Saturday, April 1st with a program of California Racing Assn. Sprint cars.

The '78 season will bring 2 CRA Sprint cars and 5 U.S. Racing Club Midjets, in addition to the 25 El Cajon Stock Car Racing Assn. super stock events.

CRA Sprints will be at Cajon April 7 and August 19. USRC Midjets are scheduled Sunday nights—May 28, July 2 and September 3 and Saturday evenings, June 10 and October 14th. The '78 season ends October 14.

Stock car season begins Saturday, April 8th. However, on Sunday, April 2nd stocks will take to the track for hot-lapping and final setting up of the cars.

Running with the super stocks will be 7 Powder Puff races and 4 Destruction Derbies culminating with the Grand Prix of Destruction Derbies.

The annual Old-Timer's race will be June 24th. The ECS-CRA Open Competition stock car event goes on October 7th. All programs start at 8 p.m. with qualifying for events at 6:30 p.m.

The 3/8th mile, hi-banked, paved oval is at Gillespie Airport in El Cajon, adjacent to State 67 at the Bradley st. exit.

Padres to Start Long 'Homestand'

The final lengthy home stand of the spring training period for the San Diego Padres on tap for the club as exhibition play heads into the middle portion of the slate.

The Padres will wind up a five-game road swing with a March 16 affair with the Oakland A's in Mesa and then conclude things against the San Francisco Giants on March 17 in Phoenix.

From there it will be back to Yuma for a 6-game home stand which will feature the Cleveland Indians, San Francisco Giants and Chicago Cubs.

The homestand will be Saturday and Sunday clashes with the Indians followed by Monday and Tuesday outings with the Giants and then to wrap things up, Wednesday, Thursday contests with the Cubs.

That will pretty much conclude the play in Yuma although the Padres will be returning at the very end of the spring for April 3-5 meetings with the California Angels.

The Padres complete upcoming schedule reads like the following:

Today, Oakland A's at Mesa. Friday, San Francisco Giants at Phoenix.

Saturday, Cleveland Indians at Yuma.

Sunday, Cleveland Indians at Yuma.

Monday, San Francisco Giants at Yuma.

Tuesday, San Francisco Giants at Yuma.

Wednesday, Chicago Cubs at Yuma.

Thursday, Chicago Cubs at Yuma.

All games commence at 1 p.m.

SVP&R, Kiwanis Back Hoop Play

The Spring Valley Park & Recreation District and the Spring Valley Kiwanis Club will sponsor the 2nd Annual Spring Valley Kiwanis Boy's Basketball Tournament March 24-25. The Tournament will be held the Friday and Saturday before Easter at the Mount Miguel and Monte Vista High Schools in Spring Valley.

The all-day tournament has two divisions—6th and 8th grades. Teams from the Los Angeles, Arizona and Baja California areas, as well as several from San Diego County will be competing. The contact is the Spring Valley Recreation Office at 460-2033.

SD HoC Names CIF Champs

The San Diego Hall of Champions have named the official 1978 CIF San Diego Section basketball teams.

Selections were made by representatives of the San Diego County prep sports writers.

Leading the first team the "player of the year," Todd Harper, Santana High school's 6'4" senior, who was also selected "player of the year" in the Grossmont League.

Todd was a second team CIF pick in his sophomore year, and made the first all-CIF team last year as a junior. He has the All-Grossmont league record for All-Time scoring with a total of 1612 points. His average is 23.5.

Joining Harper is another Grossmont League player, Mark Snow, Helix High school, who led his team to the CIF San Diego sections final two years in a row.

The 6'10" senior has been an outstanding player for Helix.

Marian High school's Joe Evans, 6'10" senior who led their team to the CIF semifinals is another strong offensive scorer and rebounder who averaged 1.6 points a game.

Jim Freeman, Bonita Vista player of the Metro League, has a 20.4 game average.

Bob Dean, La Jolla High school's versatile guard, who averaged 19.2 points a game, rounds out the final selection on the First Five.

A strong second team selection is led by Rusty Whitmarsh, Monte Vista High school. The 6'5" senior was an outstanding 17.3 points a game.

Another guard, Marcus Allen, 6'3", Lincoln High school, was selected for his scoring ability and strong defensive play.

At center, Morse High school's All-Eastern League "Player of the Year," Cliff Livingston, gives rebounding strength.

Don Capener, who led Torrey Pines High school to the CIF championship, averaged 20.9 points a game.

A junior, Michael Pitts, 6'10", Sweetwater High school, led the Red Devils to a second place in the Metropolitan League with a 20.0 points average.

$18,000 in Prizes In Dart Contest

Some of the world's finest dart shooters will be in San Diego on Friday, Saturday and Sunday when the Greater S.D. Darting Assn. plays host to over 1000 dart enthusiasts from throughout the world.

The event, scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Balboa Park's Conference Building, is the second largest International Dart Tournament in the U.S. The Tourney is sponsored by the GSDA in association with S.D.'s Central City Assn. The tournament is open to the public free of charge and will probably draw more entries than 1000. Last year it drew 900 with prize money $13,500. Competitors pay $10 an event.

Schedule and purses: Friday, 7:30 p.m., Blind Draw Doubles. Saturday, 11 a.m., Ladies Singles—$2140; 2 p.m., Open Doubles—$3450; 7 p.m., Mixed Doubles—$3530.

Eric Bonilla

Area Fighter Faces College, Marriage and Dentist at 22

He's 22 and he's getting married in April. He attends S.D. City College and has 4-5 years before he gets his social science degree. His profession? A lightweight boxer (127-135 pounds).

He'll average a fight a month but he works at his profession 6 days a week.

Bonilla runs 4 miles every morning and spends 2 hours in the gym shadow boxing and speed bag punching under the direction of Joe Lopez who lives in Spring Valley. His stablemate is David Love who will fight for the North American middleweight championship in Las Vegas in April.

Bonilla was born in Puerto Rico and came to this country at 5 when his family settled in New Jersey. He came to San Diego when he joined the Navy and now lives in Paradise Hills.

His parents (his father is a book shipper) disapprove of boxing and wants him to use all of his energy toward his degree.

"My trainers say I have a good chance to become a title contender," Bonilla says.

Perhaps he has. He started out as a pro. No amateur whatsoever. With that uncertain beginning he has reached a 3-2-2 record. Most observers think he would have been 7-0 if he had gotten fighting experience as an amateur.

He lost his front tooth in a fight last month. He plans to have it replaced before his wedding.

Bonilla is scheduled to fight the Coliseum March 31.

Sports Clothes Taken

A Nikkon camera, Etonic off sweater and a windbreaker, all valued at $205 were taken from the auto owned by David Price Edwards who lives at 1615 Walbollen dr., in Spring Valley. The loss occurred while he was in his residence Thursday.

TAKE

by John E. Wirges

You get a lot of choice viewing in the Kathryn Crosby-Honda Civic Golf Classic underway at Rancho Bernardo this week but if you're not committed to someone try following Debbie Skinner for a while. After last year, she's looking forward to some company.

Debbie is 24, blonde and pretty. She came out of the San Diego Junior Golf program with the game to win, but if it hadn't been for bad luck on the LPGA tour, she wouldn't have had any luck at all. It seems to be a family thing.

Last year's Kathy Crosby-Honda Civic classic is a typical example. An uneven number of participants and LPGA logic sent Debbie out on solo sojourns the first two rounds of last year's classic. She played early, unaccompanied and, except for family and friends, gallery-less.

The the Skinner clan is a plucky lot and even having her LPGA player's card pulled because of low ratings after her first two years on the tour, Debbie harbored no thoughts of quitting.

She just dug in and battled harder. She sailed through qualifying school a second time and earned reinstatement.

Debbie began playing as an 8-year old and was an early and often star of the San Diego Junior Golf tour. In her final years as an amateur, she reached the quarter finals of both the Trans-National Women's tourney and the USGA girls event.

One the rules of junior golf is that no parent may score, caddy or otherwise advise a child during play. There is no "Little Leagueism" in Junior Golf.

Debbie's Dad, Gordon Skinner, did what most Junior Golf parents do. He scored for other youngsters and watched Debbie from a couple of foursoomes away.

At the end of each season a tournament is hosted for Junior Golf scorers by the kind folks at Singing Hills Golf Works, with members of the sports writing crowd asked along to share the fun.

As mentioned, the Skinner luck is a family thing and it once struck papa Gordon right in front of Al Coupee, Lyle Bond and whole golf writing and free-loading crowd.

Gordon is a floor cameraman at KFMB-TV and when the 1974 scorers' tourney tee'd up, he was posted for duty at Channel 8.

What was a father to do? Gordon did it. He phoned in sick. Then, along with telecasters Bond, Coupee, Union golf scribe Howard Hagen and Trib golf writer Bob Angus and most of the lesser lights in the sports media, Gordon Skinner tee'd off in the warm sunshine.

Of course, you know what happened. Playing public hooky from work for (he said) the first time in his life, Gordon Skinner scored his first and only (up till now) HOLE-IN-ONE.

He also won the media flight low gross crown. And he couldn't talk about it. Not even mention it. It damn near killed him.

Not one writer or sportscaster gave him away. Hagen ran a little agate account, not much more than he gives the Greater Guatay Open played at Norrie West's country estate each fall, but he listed the media winner as "G. Skinner."

It eventually all came out. Gordon had to red-face it through a little hot water with his boss for a while but he can laugh about it now . . . almost.

Ask him about it at Rancho Bernardo this week. He'll be in Debbie gallery. You can spot him easily. He'll be the tall silver haired guy behind the proud father's smile.

Join Debbie's gallery and enjoy yourself. She has a near perfect swing and a little support and encouragement might be all she needs to jump into contention. And wouldn't that be great to watch.

Outdoors & Travel

By E. L. "Buck" Rogers

Homer Circle, a fishin' buddy of mine, has written a little booklet entitled "Professional Tips on Keeping Warm and Dry, and it contains information useful to all of us.

According to this veteran outdoorsman, the average human body is most comfortable between 81 and 88 degrees Fahrenheit. The body is like a furnace. It converts food into fuel to keep us warm. The heart is a heat pump which distributes this heat. The hypothalamus is our thermostat which regulates body temperature. When it senses excessive heat loss it automatically triggers counter reactions. The first is shivering — small quick muscle contractions which generate heat quickly. Then goose pimples form which raise body hairs layer of still air next to the skin.

But, when it gets really cold the human body has to have some help. We don't have an insulated layer of fat beneath our skin like a hog or seal. Nor do we have a fur overcoat like most other animals. So we have to depend on additional clothing to do the job — rain gear to keep us dry, heavier layers to shield our bare bodies from winter cold.

Our body extremities, the hands and feet, are the most difficult to keep warm, and of these two the latter pose the greatest problem. Feet press against cold ground, slosh through snow and frigid water, and are too big to tuck into a pocket to get 'em warm. So what a feller wears on his feet is the secret to keeping warm. Rugged, insulated boots are the answer. They should be larger than normal to allow the use of several pairs of socks, and preferably should be made of a rubber material to make them absolutely waterproof. If a man can keep his feet dry and warm, usually he can stay comfortable.

Staying dry is equally important. A leaky pair of waders or hip boots can make a duck hunt or trout fishing expedition a miserable experience. A rain suit that won't keep you dry in a downpour is as worthless as an egg-sucking hound dawg.

A couple of years ago I hopped a Braniff jet in Dallas for an Alaskan fishing trip. Because I wanted to travel light, I left my durable chest waders at home and substituted a new pair of $14.95 stocking foot waders which I had picked up at a local discount store. These Hong Kong creations leaked the first time I immersed them in a frigid Alaskan trout stream, and they were still leaking at the end of the week, despite numerous patches and applications of rubber cement.

So, as Uncle Homer points out in his little gem of a book, it pays to know a little something about the human body's comfort needs, and to insulate it against rain and cold with quality footwear and rain gear. A copy of this booklet can be obtained from most quality sporting goods stores, or by sending 50 cents to Royal Red Ball in Naugatuck, Conn.

Quarry in Surprise KO
In Coliseum 10-Rounder

It was a tearful scene in the dressing room of the San Diego Coliseum.

Mike Quarry, scheduled for main go against Mike Spinks in Las Vegas in April, had just been KO'd by an unknown—Pete McIntyre of Los Angeles. McIntyre was a substitute for Alvaro Lopez who injured his arm in training the day before the fight.

In the dressing room after the fight Quarry's brothers and handlers were saying that the substitute was a ringer. How can it be a ringer with a record of 13-3-2? Quarry was hurt and crying.

The KO probably cost Quarry his Vegas fight and a purse of possibly $100,000. It also propelled McIntyre into the rated class of heavyweights. McIntyre had a high left hook he used through the 5 rounds he worked but pumped hard body shots into Quarry's midriff when Quarry raised his arms to defend his head. Quarry suffered a gash beneath his left eye, a cut in his right brow, and was bleeding from the mouth when the referee Fred Hayes, stopped the fight at 1:54 of the 5th.

McIntyre had dropped Quarry in the 3rd round for a mandatory 8-count. Quarry, baffled, never showed skill after that.

In two 3-round amateur bouts Willie Hall, a Spring Valley welterweight, took a unanimous decision from Manuel Lara and Enrique Parides, also of Spring Valley, took a unanimous featherweight nod over Mario Cabral.

On the pro card, Len Provo, a Marine sergeant of San Diego made it 6-0 by lacing Junior Albers of L.A. in a 6-round light-heavyweight scrap.

In a junior lightweight 4-rounder, Gary Pittman beat Arturo Vidrio on another unanimous decision. Bill Mathis had to be satisfied with a split decision in his 6-round welterweight confrontation with Ruben Martinez.

The Coliseum was filled to near capacity for the 3rd fight in a row and probably will fill it again on March 31 when Ronnie Wilson, popular heavy-weight returns.

Wilson lost a split decision to Quarry at the Coliseum two weeks earlier in a fight so furious that it encouraged some of the fans to fight among themselves.

Boxing matches will not be held on Good Friday and the Easter week-end according to promoter Danny Millsap.

Mariners Meet Shamrocks

In 'Irish Eve' Contest

There'll be plenty of Green 'N White tonight at the San Diego Sports Arena when the San Francisco Shamrocks of the Pacific Hockey League will be hosted by the San Diego Mariners in a St. Patrick's Day Eve game.

Not only will the Shamrocks provide the opposition, but the Mariners will be serving green beer during the game.

The Mariners will be hard pressed to put on a show like last Saturday night's game against Phoenix when the Mariners won 6 to 5 in overtime, but with the importance of each game from here on, tonight's contest will most likely go right to the wire.

It was announced this past weekend that the PHL playoffs would consist of the two top teams from the regular season standings, meeting in the best-of-five series. Looking at the league schedule of remaining games, it would appear the Mariners have a better chance of catching the Shamrocks than the Roadrunners to make the playoffs. So tonight's contest is an extremely important contest.

San Francisco and Phoenix are now tied for the league lead with 39 points. But, the Shamrocks have only 6 games remaining, while Phoenix has 8 and the Mariners and Rockets 9 each. San Francisco also has only one of their 6 remaining games at home, while the Mariners have 5 out of 9 left on home ice.

The Mariners' newest acquisition, Winger Doug Lindskog, added his name to the Mariner scoring column in a big way Saturday night. Against the Roadrunners, Lindskog scored five goals to lead the Mariners to the 6-5 overtime win. Center, Bob Sauve added assists on all 6 goals to again take over the lead in team scoring.

The contest begins at 8 at the Sports Arena, can be heard on KSON Radio (1240 AM) beginning with the Coach Butch Barber Show at 7:50.

The Mariners also play at home Saturday night. Fans will enjoy the newest promotion as the Long Beach Rockets return to the Sports Arena. It's two-for-one night thanks to XETV, Channel 6. Fans will purchase the first reserve seat ticket, and XETV will provide the second.

The Mariners Booster Club announced that the First Annual Mariners Awards Banquet will be held on Monday, April 10.

Breakers Back

With New Owners

James L. Bartlett, III, chairman of the board of the International Volleyball Assn. announced that San Diego's professional volleyball franchise has acquired new ownership.

Donald Sammis, co-owner of Lion Property Development, has purchased the San Diego Breakers.

"Although the Breakers have been in San Diego for 3 years they have never had local ownership. This year the only situation we would accept for this franchise was a resident business man. Sammis is everything we were looking for and I have no doubt that his involvement guarantees the financial stability of the Breakers," Bartlett said.

Lion Property, a local land development company has been operating in San Diego for seven years. "I've always been a volleyball fan, and I didn't want to see San Diego's pro team leave the area. I was involved last year as a limited partner with the Orange County Stars and I was impressed with the IVA's business philosophy. With strong management I'm sure we can turn the Breakers into a financially solvent operation," Sammis said.

Spearheading the Breakers' management staff will be Robert Gerrity, president and general manager, formerly of the Denver Comets.

Assisting Gerrity will be Ron Wortman, who will be acting as the director of operations.

Disqualified
Wrestlers in Tues. Rematch

They were disqualified this week but they're going to wrestle again Tuesday night at the Coliseum with no disqualification allowed.

They would be Chavo Guerrero and Moondog Mayne who were ordered out of the ring by officials after one, or both, hit the referee, dropping him to the canvas for a long period.

Another wrestler—Ron Bass—became so disturbed by what was going on in the ring, that he took part in the action, adding to the confusion. He, therefore, has been barred from the Coliseum on the night of the rematch for his interference.

Other happy warriors to take part in professional wrestling Tuesday as a tag team on which the fans balloted. They voted for Black Gordon and Johnny Rivera to meet Great Goliath and Coloso Colosetti.

Hector Guerrero and Victor Rivera will wrestle for Hector's San Diego Championship trophy while El Falcon meets Dr. Hiro Ota in a battle of the sleeper-hold. Dr. Ota is an exponent of the art.

It all starts at 7:30. The Coliseum is at 15th and E sts. in downtown San Diego.

Ascot Gardena Races
Open Tonight at 8

The rain-delayed opening in Gardena of the 1978. Ascot Park motor-racing season serves to emphasize the extensive preparations J. C. Agajanian is making for his 46th year of association with the autos and motorcycles.

The international speedway motorcycle race, part of a six-race Southern California series at four tracks, will now take place at Ascot tonight at 8 p.m. Last week's rain filled the post holes dug for a new crash wall and opening night's event.

Actually, the crash wall is only part of a winter $100,000 refurbishing job at Ascot that includes repainting of all the seats as well as replacement of any too aged to last another season, replacement of much of the outside wooden fence with sheet metal, and a new public-address system.

Rep. Wilson Lists
San Diego Contracts

WASHINGTON—Congressman Bob Wilson (R-San Diego) said the following Government contracts and grants were awarded to San Diego area interests of February 28-March 6:

$5.2 million from the Department of Transportation to San Diego's Urban Mass Transit Administration for eligible operating expenses of the San Diego Mass Transit Corporation from July 1, 1977-June 30, 1978.

$5,982,800 from the Navy to La Mesa's Brinderson Corp. for construction of pier utilities and berth improvements at the Naval Station.

$1.9 million from the Navy to Teledyne Industries for control indicators, signal converters, converter mounts, power supply and receiver transmitters to make up the navigational set used on Navy aircraft.

$2 million from the Army to General Dynamics Corp. for 167 radar units in a modification of an existing contract.

Letters To The Editor

Praises Jarvis

Letter to the Editor:
The legislature is to be commended in their efforts to come up with ways and means to reduce discriminatory property taxes by 30%. Now we can sincerely vote YES for the Jarvis-Gann Initiative—Proposition 13 with the full knowledge and belief that our legislators and Governor Brown can and will come up with the remaining tax revenues to replace eliminated discriminatory property taxes.

The California Association of Realtors also comes in, for high praise for their successful efforts to remove the five percent tax on profits when a property owner sells.

Surely, the many thousands of Real Estate persons now working for and with property owners will support the Jarvis-Gann Initiative—Proposition 13—by lobbying for diversified taxes from many other areas to keep necessary government going.

With the passage of the Jarvis-Gann Initiative—Proposition 13 by the voters on June 6th, our Electric, Telephone, Gas bills will be reduced by the California Public Utilities Commission.

We pay for all property taxes levied against our utility companies. Our Grossmont Union High School District currently has about 24,000 young people crowded into 9 high schools.

Only about 30% of the voters cast a YES vote for new high schools in the last school bond election.

When the JARVIS-GANN Initiative — Proposition 13 — passes on June 6th, we will be able to receive special funding from tax revenues, other than property taxes, for three new high schools or ever how many California Education Authorities determine within their 26 pupils per classroom.

He will discuss legislative issues now before the State Legislature and take the pulse of members on recent legislative and consumer protection measures. He will also offer personal assistance in resolving problems with those who have them with State agencies.

Metric System; How it Works

By John Corbett

Q: Then why don't our exporters make the metric products for overseas and continue to make our inch-lb products for us?

A: This would raise our costs on inch-lb products and also make the metric version of the product considerably higher priced. A manufacturer's expenses really increase when two production lines must be run; metric and inch tools and parts must be kept separated, stored, and inventoried; more recordkeeping, warehouse space, and other factors must be handled. It's much cheaper to make only one size and sell it to everyone.

Q: So why bother to make products for foreign sale? Why not have U.S. companies make only what we need?

A: Although we export a fairly small amount of what we produce, it happens that one out of every six U.S. employees works on something that goes into an export item or on the actual export product. With one out of every six U.S. workers unemployed (if we stop exporting goods), conditions in this country could get pretty rough. To keep U.S. economy healthy and our people employed, our industry needs to find more sales overseas... and this is more apt to happen if we can provide foreign customer with our superior products in the sizes they want.

Q: Is it true that the European common market is forbidding import of nonmetric products?

A: The countries that make up the European common market have agreed that, after April 1978, they will not allow products to enter these 9 common market countries unless the products are described metrically. This means that all labels, invoices, instructions, specifications, and any other accompanying papers or containers will give the product dimensions in units of the modernized metric system that is called SI (for Systeme International d'Unites or System of International Units).

Restrictions on imports to other metric countries vary, at the present time. Some have no rules regarding metric units, and a few even stipulate that in addition to bearing labels showing contents in SI units, the packages must be sized so they contain a certain amount of product in SI units. For example, certain foods may be brought into So. Africa in packages of 125, 250, 500, 750 milliliters (if they contain less than one litre).

Attorney Gen. 'Says 'Duke' CYO, DoC Should be Under

Senator George "Duke" Deukmejian, R-Long Beach, has introduced a resolution calling for a study of placing the Department of Corrections and the California Youth Authority under the jurisdiction of the Attorney General.

Under the measure, the study would be conducted by the Senate Committee on Government Organization, on which Deukmejian serves.

"I think the idea of having the Department of Corrections (DOC) and the California Youth Authority (CYA) under the supervision of the Attorney General merits careful consideration said Deukmejian, the Senate Republican leader.

"Who is more concerned about public safety than the state's top elected law officer?" he said. "That's what the Attorney General is." Deukmejian said. "Since these two departments are part of the criminal justice system, the Attorney General should supervise their operations.

"For too long our corrections operations have been run by social reformers, and what we have reaped from their philosophy is more violence on the streets and in the institutions. Deukmejian said the increased violence is typified by the rise of prison gangs in the past decade.

According to Department of Justice statistics, there was one gang-related killing every 18.7 days inside the state's prison in 1976.

PROCEEDS FROM TOMORROW's Lemon Grove Lion's Club light bulb sale go to finance sight screenings for local school children. The chairmen of this year's sale are (l-r) Dick Chichester, Earnest Strzelick and Father Ken Johnson. The bulbs will be on sale in the parking lot of Crocker National and First National banks and the local Lions will sell six bulbs for $3. The sale also will continue on April 7.

Ask Your C.H.P.

CHP Capt. C. M. Douglas

Last week Captain Douglas addressed the problem of moped riding in bicycle lanes. If you have a question, no matter how insignificant it may appear to you, ask it. It could save you a citation. Or maybe, it could even save your life.

Address your questions in care of this newspaper and please allow at least three weeks for your answer to appear.

This Week's Question:

I have a foreign pick-up truck and wanted to know how big a trailer I can tow with a class one driver's license.

Answer:

A new law effective January 1 states that any motor vehicle under 4,000 pounds (empty weight) is prohibited from towing any vehicle weighing 6,000 pounds or more gross.

Good Officially In County Race

Neil Good, former resident of Lemon Grove and graduate of Mt. Miguel High School officially filed for County Assessor yesterday and challenged the incumbent, E. C. Williams, to participate in debates throughout the county before the June 6 primary.

Good said, "The incumbent has been invisible the last 12 years and his response to my offer to debate will determine if he will continue his long reign of arrogance and stay invisible during the campaign."

He said Williams' attempt for a 4th term is a "slap in the face of the county voters who voted less than two years ago for a 3-term limit to county offices, including assessor."

Nearly 60% of the voters supported the 3-term limit in 1976 but, because of a charter conflict, the courts ruled the limit unconstitutional. "Nevertheless," Good said, "the people let known their desire as to how long someone should serve in an elective county office. The incumbent has seen fit to ignore the people's desire and I am confident they will rectify that by electing me assessor."

Drive Opens to Restore S.D. Aerospace Museum

A nation-wide drive to restore the fire-ravaged San Diego Aerospace Museum and Hall of Fame has been undertaken in San Diego.

San Diego is appealing to the nation to help rebuild this civic treasure, destroyed by an arsonist-set fire.

Mayor Pete Wilson announced that aerospace pioneer T. Claude Ryan will serve as the honorary chairman of the effort. Fred Garry, president of chairman of the board of Rohr Corp., will serve as chairman of an Aerospace Museums Recovery Fund executive-committee.

"We have suffered a terrible loss," said Garry, "but we intend to build a new museum that will be in keeping with the role San Diego has played in aviation history. We hope others will join in this 'Spirit of San Diego'."

At an organizational meeting, the outpouring of support by the San Diego community was indicative of this "Spirit". The business community, for instance, pledged $150,000, to help reconstruct another replica of the Spirit of St. Louis, the airplane built in San Diego by Ryan and which Charles Lindbergh flew across the Atlantic Ocean.

Wilson contributed a handwritten letter from Lindbergh. Solar Corp. contributed a display crafted for its recent 50th anniversary and estimated to be worth $30,000.

The new collection will be stored in the city's renovated Ford Building, also in the city's historic Balboa Park and a few hundred yards from the burned-down Electric Building site. The museums had been

$4 Million to Aid 3'Relief Programs

Federal relief funds totaling approximately $4 million will be released to the County of San Diego this fiscal year, reducing local welfare costs.

$2 million will be used for continuing Federal reimbursement of local costs in assistance to Indochinese refugees under the Indochinese Refugee Assistance Program (IRAP).

The County will receive an additional $2 million in fiscal relief funds for Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) and Supplemental Security Income (SSI) programs.

The County's Intergovernmental Affairs Office was the single nationwide lobbying force in securing these funds which provide immediate relief to local and state governments for their welfare costs in FY 1978.

The County was also one of the principal catalysts in securing continued federal funding to Indochinese refugees. Congressional action represents culmination of a lengthy effort to secure full Federal funding for continued local costs of service and cash assistance under IRAP.

scheduled to move to the Ford Building this fall.

Asst Attorney To Seek Superior Court Post

Assistant District Attorney William H. Kennedy, second in command in the operation of the San Diego County District Attorney's Office, filed today to seek election to the San Diego Superior Court.

Kennedy presented petitions containing 2700 signatures in order to qualify for the June ballot.

"I am extremely gratified that so many persons were supportive of my decision to run. I appreciate the efforts of many volunteers who in only two weeks time gathered so many signatures. The signatures are from voters residing in all areas throughout the entire county," Kennedy said.

"Since I believe in the integrity of the elective system, I particularly believe the courts should be responsible to the electorate and that the voters should decide which judges should rule on their legal problems," Kennedy said.

$24,000 Seniors' Shopping Program Approved by Sups.

Frail senior citizens who need someone with them when they go shopping will have this service under a contract with Allied Community Services.

The San Diego County Board of Supervisors unanimously approved a contract with Allied Community Services under supplemental Title III revenues from the California Department of Aging.

The agreement covers provisions of escort shopping services for frail, but ambulatory senior citizens, enabling them to leave their homes and shop accompanied by a trained volunteer.

Allied will recruit and train 300 volunteers who will accompany seniors. A total of 300 different clients will be served involving 5,094 shopping trips. Total cost of the program is $24,719 for a unit cost of $4.85 each shopping trip and $1.65 an hour of volunteer service.

This is the 13th service contract approved by the Board in the Area Plan category of In-Home Supportive Services.

While shopping services have been provided for senior citizens under the general category of home maker chore services, seniors have not accompanied workers on shopping trips.

Measure to Suspend License For SV Swap Meet Docketed

Docketed for the March 21 meeting of the San Diego County Board of Supervisors is a measure which would revoke the license for the Spring Valley Swap Meet.

Complaints of noise and traffic have been filed by the residents of La Presa's Lakeview road, a residential street which lies behind the Swap Meet.

Residents there say the patrons of the Swap Meet use the Lakeview road as a thoroughfare to the weekend meets to avoid traffic on heavily congested Sweetwater and Quarry roads.

Also complaints, Bates said, have been filed the Swap Meet is selling new rather than used items and there has been stolen property sold there.

Iris Sankey Seeks Reelection to Equalization Post

Iris Sankey, vice chairwoman of the State Board of Equalization, has announced that she is a candidate to retain her Second District seat on the Board. Sankey is the first vice chairwoman in the 98-year history of the Board, one of California's oldest administrative agencies.

Sankey said the Board has a worldwide reputation for efficiency and economy of operation. During the fiscal year 1976-77 revenue was collected in the amount of $6.7 billion with a cost of only 80 cents per $100 of revenue raised. "This is the best record in the history of the Board," said Sankey, "and it is one that I am proud of."

The Board's activities are directed by five constitutional officers, four of whom are elected from equalization districts which divide the state into areas almost equal in population.

Every facet of California commerce is involved to some degree in business taxes administered by the Board.

It also has major property tax responsibilities in the area of local property taxation through its duties in maintaining intercounty equalization of assessment levels, establishing assessment standards, guiding and assisting county assessors, and assessing public utilities for local property tax purposes.

The Board also administers the private car tax on railroad cars not owned by railroads, the only property tax used by state government. Revenues collected benefit not only the state but city and county governments, and local transit districts.

The Second Equalization District includes nine counties—San Diego, Orange, Riverside, San Bernardino, Imperial, Kern, Kings, Tulare and Fresno—and approximately 5.5 million people.

Supervisor Jim Bates, who will sponsor a resolution in the Board of Supervisors to suspend the license, said in a letter to his colleagues, "In view of this (the complaints made against the Meet) it is my opinion that the Spring Valley swap meet operation is in non-compliance with Chapter 13, Division 1, Title 2, Section 21.1308 of the San Diego County Code of Regulatory Ordinances . . ."

Those ordinances require the meet to operate in the public interest, health, safety and general welfare of the community.

Life in Space Is Fleet Course

Registration is now in progress for a course called "Life Beyond Earth", that will be offered at the Reuben H. Fleet Space Theater in Balboa Park, through the UCSD Extension. The class, which will meet from 7-10 p.m. Thursdays, April 6-June 1, in the Lecture Hall of the Space Theater, will be taught by Frank P. Mortyn, M.S., science writer and lecturer. Mortyn has taught at San Francisco State U. San Diego City College, and Chapman College, among other institutions. He has written for NASA publications and for the Reuben H. Fleet Space Theater.

The course will be a study of the possibilities of human—and non-human—life in the universe outside the confines of our planet. Basic concepts of introductory astronomy will be touched upon, including the nature of space and time, the evolution of the stars and galaxies, the origin and destiny of the solar system.

The Space Theater anticipates and large response to the course "Life Beyond Earth", and encourages early registration for the course since the lecture hall seating is limited to 132. Fee for the nine-week course is $60.

Registration office phone is 452-3400.

KCBQ's Manager Heads Radio Chain

Russell G. Wittberger has been named president of the Downe Broadcasting Group, a nation-wide chain of six radio stations, which includes KCBQ Radio in San Diego.

Wittberger, previously KCBQ's general manager, announced that the corporate staff of Downe Broadcasting (formerly Bartel Broadcasting) will move from New York to San Diego. The move is expected to be completed by late April.

Wittberger has been general manager at KCBQ for 4 years, and has been an executive in radio throughout his professional career. A journalism graduate of Marquette U., he is active in community and civic organizations, and serves on the board of directors of Project Concern, a San Diego-based charitable organization which sponsors the annual "Walk for Mankind" in 150 U.S. cities.

In addition to KCBQ, the Downe Broadcasting Group includes KSLQ-FM, St. Louis; WADO, New York; WDRQ-FM, Detroit; WMJX, Miami; and WOKY, Milwaukee.

Deukmejian Goes For Atty. Gen. Post

State Senator George Deukmejian (R-Long Beach) has announced his candidacy for California Attorney General.

In remarks prepared for his news conference, the Senate's Minority Leader said last week that he's committed to "removing violent repeat criminals from our communities."

Deukmejian said he will be "the people's lawyer" vigorously fight, "to rid our state of organized crime and narcotics trafficking."

The Long Beach lawmaker is considered to be a strict "law and order" candidate, with a firm commitment to supporting law enforcement agencies throughout the state.

Deukmejian authored the death penalty law, California's new Career Criminal Act, established the "Use A Gun, Go To Prison" campaign, and Monday introduced legislation which calls for mandatory state prison for anyone convicted of committing forcible rape.

The Deukmejian campaign has already raised nearly $250,000 and according to treasurer Pat Formby, the campaign seems to be in good financial shape.

Lumber, Dog Taken

A burglar added insult to injury when he took 10 2"x10"x14' boards in the side yard of the residence of Robert L. Bolton, 9202 Valencia lane, in Spring Valley.

The insult was when the burglar also took Bolton's watch dog. The lumber was valued at $140. No value was placed on the dog.

Assessor Mails 330,000 Forms To Homeowners

The massive mailing of over 330,000 Homeowners' Exemption forms to San Diego property owners has been completed, County Assessor E. C. Williams reported.

Included in the mailing, which took several days, are 50,000 new Homeowners' Exemption claim forms for 1978. Williams emphasizes that: "These forms are to be completed by property owners applying for the Homeowners' Exemption for the first time. They are sent in a green envelope with a green card inside marked '1978 Claim for Homeowners' Property Tax Exemption' across the top. They should be sure to complete and return it to the Assessor to receive the Homeowners' Exemption benefit."

The bulk of the annual exemption mailing will go to approximately 280,000 homeowners who have previously received this exemption. They will receive a white Exemption Termination/Correction card. "It is important that all of these property owners understand," Williams explained, "that this form, Homeowners' Exemption Termination/Correction card, should be returned only if the property no longer qualifies, or to correct information printed on it."

Property owners who reside in their home and feel they may qualify for the Homeowners' Exemption, and who do not receive a claim form by March 18, should phone the Assessor's office at 233-5451 for information. The legal deadline for filing for this exemption is 5 p.m., April 15.

Loot Tops $1,000

A burglar ransacked the Spring Valley residence of Robert Ceja Alba. Monday night and made off with $1,074 in valuables.

Alba, who lives at 8316 Cacus st., said the loss was discovered when he and his wife returned home.

Among the items taken were 2 cameras, 2 sets of earrings, 2 necklaces and a CB radio.

Sheriff's deputies could find no point of entry but an outside door was left open.
